

>>> Our special in-house offer to make your company get the most out of coaching:

The Coaching Audit and Visioning Workshop

A one-day in-house workshop to identify excellent coaching solutions for your company on the basis of international best practice

provided by Frank Bresser & his team

(on request)

Your
benefits/outcomes

As a result of this workshop, you/your team responsible for coaching will have a clear understanding of the current state of practice of coaching in your firm in comparison to best practice, and a clear vision and road map of where you want to go with coaching in the future - and how to actually achieve this in an optimal way. It is an ideal format for optimizing your current coaching practice/programmes and designing new high-quality coaching initiatives.

Best
practice;
audit &
visioning

This highly effective workshop can be fully tailored around your company-specific needs. It will classically include firstly a coaching audit, in which we have a look at the current coaching practice in your firm, identify the areas that work very well and those that may need further optimization, bring up and help you integrate best practices regarding successful coaching programmes, and introduce leading-edge management tools for the optimal implementation of coaching programmes. Secondly, in the visioning part, we classically work out where your company wants to be with coaching in 1, 2 or 5 years, what you actually need to get there and what are the practical implications of international best practice and the management tools for your further proceeding. We will finally refine/develop (further) together the coaching vision and action plan for your firm. The ideal group size is 2 to maximum 8 people (responsible for, involved in or interested in coaching) from your firm.

On request

The 'Coaching Audit and Visioning Workshop' is delivered in-house on request. If you are interested, please get in touch and send us an email to info@bresser-consulting.com or call us by phone: +49-179-4338876
